Staff Corner

Happy New Year! I'm Matthew Plank, contract librarian with MPF-ZAI, and I joined the band in 2018 as a Cataloging & Metadata Librarian. I'd like to share a little bit about my area of the NOAA Central Library (NCL).

I do a lot of below decks work that makes the library a library! For instance, I help catalog the haul-ins and manage the fishery of metadata for NCL's resources: i.e. books, journal articles, bibliographies, tech memos, etc. One example of metadata work is that for a new electronic publication I create the digital object identifier (DOI) which establishes a unique research citation link for the publication: i.e. doi.org/10.25923/matc-am30.

At the moment, every item we add to the library is entered into either the online catalog or the NOAA Institutional Repository. The good news for 2022 is that we're getting a new library services platform, Alma, that will combine our resources. I forecast that streamlining your information search will enhance NOAA's contribution to the blue economy.
